

The main building situated on Platform 1. The smaller portion on the right contains the waiting room area, whilst the middle portion contain the Booking Hall and Office. The larger part of the structure on the left was once the stationmasters house, it and the adjoined wooden clad building are now the railways main offices. The preserved line first began operations at Bridgnorth but after the southern section of the railway was purchased in 1971, the headquarters were relocated to Bewdley where they have remained ever since.

Photograph By N.Collins